CARL BURTON KILLED

Carl Burton, 14 years old, was accidentally killed at Exeter Thursday afternoon, by being run over by a wagon.

C. N. Ellston was threshing wheat and having it hauled from the machine to the railroad track for shipment. Carl climbed upon the wagon, the spring seat toppled with him and he fell from the wagon, which frightened the mules pulling the wagon. As they started to run the wagon passed over his neck and head, breaking his neck and killing him instantly.

Carl was a son of the late John Burton of this city and a grandson of Mrs. Mary Burton. His mother is now Mrs. Neill Lawson of Exeter.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Exeter.—Cassville Republican.

CAR STOLEN

A Maxwell car owned by Cleo Wilder of Peirce City was stolen Tuesday night of last week.

While Sheriff Roberts, deputy Reed and Prosecuting Attorney Smith were coming from Monett that night, a car ran in ahead of them at Purdy. Just east of Purdy it turned toward Flat creek. The Cassville men followed the car and got close enough to it to take the number. Next morning upon looking the number up in the automobile registration book it was found to be Cleo Wilder's car. The officers called Mr. Wilder and asked if Wilder's car had been stolen the night before. He replied that it had. The officers recognized the two men in the car.

Friday Jack Clayton of this city was placed under arrest charged with having a hand in the deal.

Clayton was placed under $5,000 bond and released from jail Saturday.

Bob Amos was arrested by Sheriff Roberts at Monett Saturday night and brought to Cassville, charged also with the theft of the car. Amos was arrested after getting off train No. 10 which arrived in Monett from Oklahoma about midnight. He gave bond for appearance.—Cassville Republican.

SENATE AMENDS SEAT OF GOVERNMENT LAW

Fixes Salary of Members at $750—
House Passes Two Bills Regulating St. Louis Rentals.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 15.—The senate today passed the bill amending the law regarding the board of permanent seat of government, fixing the annual salary of members at $750. The bill providing a tax of three-fifths of a cent to pay interest on certificates of the state to the public school and seminary funds also was passed, as was the house measure, reducing the capitol bond tax from 2 cents to 1.

The house today passed two bills regulating rentals in St. Louis and providing penalties for rent profiteering.

The following bills were engrossed: Two bills enlarging the powers of commissioners of special road districts to pave and repair roads; a bill creating an immigration department under the state board of agriculture and appropriating one hundred thousand dollars for it (a similar bill was passed by the last legislature, but held up by referendum proceedings); a bill allowing cities of the second and third class to increase taxes for parks and libraries; an appropriation bill for state eleemosynary institutions.

The house after a vigorous debate today adopted a motion making the pending tax bills a special order of business for Monday. The motion was passed after the body had voted down a motion to curtail debate on the income tax bill and take a vote. The debate, which at times grew hot, was led by Representative Whitaker. Speaker O'Fallon addressed the house, urging adoption of an amendment making the exemption limits in the bill the same as under the present law, one thousand dollars for single persons and $2,000 for married ones, with exemption of $200 a year for each child. The bill as written would increase the limit for married persons to $3,000 and allow an exemption of $400 for each child.
